Conjecture as to Whether the Allied Forces Are in Time to Save Serbians.

PARIS, Nov. 3.—Announcement was made by the war office today of the repulse of a Bulgarian attack on French troops in southern Serbia near Krivolak. In the region of Strumitsa, the French troops are advancing on the mountain near the frontier.

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—The war office announced today that Field Marshal von Hindenburg had been forced to withdraw his line between Swintow and Ilsen lakes on the northern end of the Russian front.

The city of Ustie (Ustie) in northwestern Serbia has been captured by the Germans. The retirement of Hindenburg's forces from the line running from Swintow and Lake Ilsen apparently means that the German commander is abandoning his attack from the west and southwest on the Russian stronghold of Dvinsk, which town he has been making a determined effort to capture. Lake Ilsen lies ten miles west Dvinsk, while Swintow is situated twelve miles to the south of Lake Ilsen. The Germans evidently are now withdrawing to positions along a line to the west of Novo Alexandrovsk.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The landing of French troops at Kavala on the Greek coast is reported in a Sofia despatch to Berlin and although this news is unconfirmed it seems a likely sequel to yesterday's information that British and French transports had been sighted off this Greek port. Whether these forces will be able to connect speedily enough with the other troops aligned against the Bulgarians from Krivolak to Strumitsa to relieve the pressure and by a possible flank attack threaten the rear of the Bulgarians is admittedly problematical, but the appearance of these fresh troops in the Balkans is regarded in London as a gratifying materialization of Premier Asquith's positive announcement yesterday that the independence of Serbia was one of the essential objects of the war and that Great Britain and France were in full agreement regarding the means whereby this means might be attained.

With the exception of this reported landing of troops the Balkan situation today presents little besides a tangled conflict of rumors, including one that Monastir is already in the Bulgarian hands and that the Serbians are almost surrounded by the Austrians, Germans and Bulgarians and are hastily retreating to their last positions in the Albanian mountains.

These rumors, however, are discredited here, or at least are regarded as premature, since the Berlin official communication records no such developments.

The Austro-Germans in northwestern and western Serbia, and the Bulgarians in the East continue their attack against which the defense gradually yields ground, but the situation is not vitally changed. The size of the German forces operating against Serbia is fixed at 150,000 men, according to an authoritative statement that has reached London. Thus far the number of prisoners captured by

STRONG ADDRESSES MADE AT INSTITUTE

By Dr. McElfresh, While Prof. Shannon is the Speaker Announced for Today.

At the Sunday school institute, Dr. Franklin McElfresh, who for several years has been superintendent of the teacher training department of the International Sunday School Association, delivered two strong addresses to interested audiences of the church and Sunday school workers in the city yesterday.

In the afternoon Dr. McElfresh spoke of the training of the workers in the home school needed. First of all, the young men and women who are to be trained as teachers must be chosen with great care from among the most promising students of the school, between the ages of 15 and 18 years. There should be a rapid but thorough course of study in the following subjects: Old Testament History, New Testament History, Children and Youth, Methods of Teaching and Organization of Sunday Schools. In each lesson there should be a review, one idea taught and a review. Students should be carefully guided in their study of

The Clarksburg Telegram's Great Shower of Gold for Babies is over.

The winners have been decided and the prizes awarded. The campaign was one of the most successful ever conducted in this section of West Virginia, netting the Clarksburg Daily and Sunday Telegram eleven hundred and sixty-one subscription payments from new subscribers. It was conducted on a fair, square basis and this newspaper has lived up to every agreement it made. In a campaign of this character, throughout the entire campaign and were able to land him the highest for the district prize in Clarksburg.

Gerald Reed

In District No. 2, Ruth Hood, of Folsom, is the shining star and carries off the highest honors in this district and is awarded the $250 prize. Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Hood have put forth strenuous efforts throughout the entire campaign and by so doing were able to share one of the big prizes. Ruth is well liked by all who know her. She has pretty blue eyes and her dark curly hair and her smile are all well known above other children at Folsom. Mr. Hood, who is in the mercantile business at Folsom, has worked very faithfully since the opening of the campaign. Ruth acter, as in politics, there must be some winners and some losers. This is true in all contests. If everybody could win, it would not be a contest, and while the Clarksburg Telegram rejoices with the winners, it also sympathizes with those who failed after so valiant a fight, and expresses the wish that each candidate could be awarded a $500 prize. But the beauty of the campaign is, that every one who remained active in the campaign by turning in subscriptions until the end, will receive a ten per cent commission for all new subscriptions they secured.

As stated in the beginning of the campaign, it was given for the purpose of ascertaining who were the most popular babies in the city and vicinity, and to Virginia and Virgil (twins) the daughter and son of Mrs. Lillie M. Rush, must be given the first honor and the $500 in gold. They cross the wire and win easily, acclaimed by multitudes of the Clarksburg Telegram readers as the "King and Queen" of them all. They were four years old on October 26, and Virginia, the "Little Queen" of Clarksburg, this dainty, winsome little miss, was cheered again and again as she acknowledged the plaudits of the great throng who assembled to hear the judges' decision on Tuesday night. Virgil is a little more roughish, boy-like, naturally, with brown eyes and has a sprightly wit beyond his tender years. Mrs. Lillie M. Rush, their mother, who lives at 99 Denham street, secured the support of hundreds of friends during the campaign, and rapidly forged the twins to the front. Their total vote is 11,011,857.

The second honor in District No. 1 goes to Gerald Reed, son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Reed, of 128 Denham street, who is awarded $250 in gold. Gerald, three years old, has blue eyes, light hair and rosy cheeks. His parents secured good support

Republicans Get an Additional Congressman and New Governor in Massachusetts.

OHIO "WETS" ARE VICTORS

New York's New Constitution is Defeated and Suffrage Loses in Three States.

Elections in ten states yesterday emphatically defeated woman suffrage amendments in New York, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, and gave the Republicans an additional representative in Congress and a new governor in Massachusetts.

In Kentucky both parties claim a victory in the gubernatorial contest but the complete returns from 111 of the 120 counties gave former Congressman Augustus O. Stanley Democrat, a lead of 9,029 over Edwin P. Morrow, Republican.

The Democrats apparently elected a governor in Maryland and an entire state ticket besides a majority in the state legislature.

Samuel W. McCall, the Republican who will succeed David I. Walsh, a Democrat, as governor of Massachusetts, won by a plurality of 663. The Republicans retained the control of the Massachusetts legislature.

Mississippi, the only other state to elect a governor, went, as usual, Democratic. The only opposition to the Democratic ticket was made by Socialists.

In New York former Congressman William S. Bennett was elected in the Twenty-third district to succeed the late Democratic Congressman Jacob Goulden. Bennett is a Republican. Republicans will succeed Republicans in the Thirty-first and Thirty-sixth congressional districts of New York, and the Twenty-fourth district of Pennsylvania.

New York Republican. In New York the Republicans retained their control of the lower house of the legislature although they lost one assemblyman. They also elected a majority of the mayors chosen in cities of the state.

In addition to defeating the suffrage amendment by about 210,000 votes, the people of New York repudiated the new state constitution drafted by a convention of which Elhu Root was president, and for which Mr. Root had conducted a vigorous speaking campaign.

In New Jersey, the Republicans gained two state senators and two members of the assembly and will continue in control of both branches of the legislature.

Prohibition Rejected. Statewide prohibition was rejected in Ohio by a majority of from 20,000 to 30,000. Last year the amendment was defeated by 84,152. The Republicans elected mayors in Cincinnati and Cleveland. Charles Milroy, a Progressive, was chosen mayor of Toledo. The city of Toledo voted against a twenty-five-year street car franchise and will take over all lines controlled by the Toledo Railway and Light Company.

A proposal that the city purchase the local street railways was rejected in Detroit.

The election of members of the Virginia general assembly will lead a heavy majority to the Senate and House pledged to the enactment of prohibition legislation when the state goes dry by constitutional amendment November 1, 1916.

Morrow May Win. Former Congressman A. O. Stanley, Democrat, of Henderson, on the face of incomplete returns from all districts

PIONEER OIL MAN GOES TO REWARD

Aged Bridgeporter, Once River Pilot and Union Soldier, is Dead in Suburban Town.

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 3.—A. G. Whitehill, aged 67, died at his home Tuesday afternoon after a long illness of diabetes. Mr. Whitehill was born in 1848, at Clarion, Pa., being a member of a prominent family. He entered the Union army at the age of 14, serving three years and nine months and being discharged at the age of 17. He was in every battle fought by the Potomac army excepting those of Antietam and Gettysburg. He and his brothers were the first pilots on the Allegheny and Clarion rivers. After a successful career as pilot, he became one of the pioneer oil men in which field he was remarkably successful. At one time he was field manager for James Guffey, the biggest oil producer in the world. Later he was a successful contractor and at the age of 65 drilled the biggest producer in West Virginia territory. Probably no man of the oil field was so well known and had so many friends. For a number of years he had resided here and was held in the highest esteem by those who knew him, not only as a business man but as a friend and neighbor whose congenial spirit endeared him alike to the old and the young, the rich and the poor. Surviving the deceased man are the widow and a son. The son is Clyde Whitehill, a wealthy furniture dealer of Indianapolis, who was at his bedside when the end came. The funeral will be held from his late residence at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon and interment will be made in a local cemetery.
